

Novar Program Plus

Your clients depend on you to deliver accurate programming and scheduling information. Capture this data accurately and automatically with Program Plus. Novar™ Program Plus from Harris is a service that provides programming and formats to head ends that require local avail information. The service is available in two convenient formats, an emailed XML file or as a web service that can be configured to synchronize at a user-defined time.

Data included in the service: program names, program types, program times and the local avail format details.
